Biography

Caleb Edwards has a wide-ranging commercial litigation practice, with significant experience in defending securities class actions and white-collar charges, and responding to internal investigations. Caleb also has experience with condominium-related litigation.

Caleb has represented directors, officers, and corporations in both Canada and the United States in class actions, insolvency-related litigation, and regulatory proceedings.

Securities: defense of directors and officers in class actions and regulatory proceedings.

Commercial litigation: general commercial disputes, employee poaching, fraudulent conveyance, and responses to government investigations.

Discovery: experience with obtaining cross-border discovery in the U.S. and Canada.

Condo: experience with oppression and negligence claims as well as competition bureau responses.

Before joining Miller Thomson, Caleb practised in New York City, where he represented clients in district, bankruptcy, and various State courts.

Caleb is actively involved in the legal community and while practicing in New York, provided pro bono representation for illegal immigrants, tenants, criminal defendants, and welfare recipients. In Toronto, Caleb is a member of the board of the Ralph Thornton Community Centre.
