Biography

Natalie Cordiano is building her practice in the area of commercial real estate at Miller Thomson, including commercial leasing, financing and acquisition and disposition of real property assets. Natalie's strong interpersonal skills enable her to effectively work with multiple deal teams to deliver efficient and reliable service to clients.

Natalie was called to the Ontario Bar in 2019 after having worked at Miller Thomson as a summer student and an articling student. Natalie received her J.D. from Dalhousie University's Schulich School of Law. Prior to law school, Natalie completed a Bachelor of Arts (Honours) degree at Queen's University, specializing in Political Studies, where she graduated on the Dean's Honour List.

While in law school Natalie was a member of Dalhousie Law's Community Outreach Program, which raises money for local charities in the Halifax area. Natalie assisted the orientation committee by hosting the Welcome Barbecue for incoming law students. During her second and third year, Natalie also participated as an 'Upper Year Buddy' providing support to first year law students.

Natalie volunteered for Dalhousie Law's Wellness Committee and held office hours for students in need of advice. During her time at Queen's University, Natalie volunteered for the Make-A-Wish Foundation and as a peer mentor on a weekly basis for students in need of academic and personal assistance.
