Biography

Pat Forte examines client issues through the lens of risk. Pat specializes in insurance defence and employment law. Her experience and practical, results-oriented approach help her to provide clients with counsel in a cost-effective manner. Pat is committed to keeping her clients informed on issues that affect them in the changing legal landscape. Pat regularly speaks, writes, and Tweets on current topics of interest and about emerging legal trends.

Pat's litigation experience includes court appearances at all levels of court, including the Ontario Court of Appeal. She has a solid background in mediation training and practice. She has completed courses in risk assessment, risk control and risk financing to receive her Canadian Risk Management (CRM) designation, and has expertise in risk management in the profit and not-for-profit sectors.

Pat provides insightful advice and skilled advocacy in the following core areas:

Insurance litigation: focusing on advocacy through the defence of casualty, life, disability and property claims, including opinions on coverage, policy interpretation, and compliance with statutory and policy requirements.

Employment law: advising and advocating for clients about employment standards, contracts, policies, privacy, restrictive covenants, workplace investigations, managing leaves of absence, employment discipline, termination, wrongful dismissal claims, and human rights complaints.

Privacy and information protection: advising clients about rights and obligations under the federal Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act and assessing claims arising from the civil tort of breach of privacy.

Legal risk management services: offering legal risk audits, risk management planning, training, and education. Pat leverages her knowledge of the law and emerging legal issues to help clients to safeguard against individual and business risks, losses, and hazards.

Pat also holds leadership positions within the firm – as the Waterloo Office Managing Partner (2014-present) and as the Southwestern Ontario Litigation Practice Liaison, Litigation Practice Group.
