Biography

Shannon Houston is an immigration lawyer working with the team at Miller Thomson to ensure that her clients' corporate immigration matters are handled effectively and efficiently.

Shannon assists clients with their Canadian business immigration needs including Labour Market Impact Assessment applications, work permit applications (such as NAFTA, intracompany transfer, and LMIA-based work permit applications), and permanent residence applications for the family and economic classes.

Prior to studying law, Shannon worked in the human resources department of an international oilfield services company in Calgary, Alberta, where she gained valuable insight into immigration needs from the client's perspective.

Shannon articulated at a boutique human resources law firm in Calgary before joining Miller Thomson in 2013. She obtained her Juris Doctor from the University of Calgary and her Bachelor of Management from the University of Lethbridge with a double major in Human Resource Management & Labour Relations and International Business.
