Biographie

(Disponible en anglais seulement)

Josiah Davis carries on a broad tax law practice, including corporate and international tax planning, cross-border transactions, corporate reorganizations and mergers and acquisitions. Josiah's extensive research experience and analytical approach to files provide a strong foundation for finding solutions to tax-related matters facing both domestic and international clients.

Josiah provides advice and assistance with respect to:

Tax planning: providing support for corporate reorganizations in the domestic business context, advice and analysis on agreements for exposure to tax in the domestic and international business context, analysis of compliance with tax rules for not-for-profits and tax-exempt entities

Trust planning: analysis of non-resident trust status and exposure to foreign accrual property income determinations, assisting in maintaining compliance for tax-exempt entities

Tax dispute resolution: assisting on notices of objection, notices of appeal and submissions in support of clients' filing positions
