Antonio Nadaira is a seasoned business lawyer recognized for his expertise in mergers and acquisitions and strategic transactions. He guides businesses of all sizes through every stage of their commercial transactions, from initial structuring to closing, including the acquisition and sale of companies, corporate reorganizations, financing and equity investments.

Having started his career in tax, Antonio brings an additional perspective to the structuring and execution of complex transactions. He regularly advises buyers and sellers on the corporate and strategic aspects of their transactions, including pre-transaction reorganizations and the restructuring of shareholdings. His understanding of the tax and legal considerations that influence transactions enables him to provide strategic advice tailored to his clients' business objectives. He advises companies in the healthcare, electronics and food service sectors on acquisitions, sales and international expansion, as well as several high-net-worth families on the restructuring of their corporate holdings.
