Hadis Bagheri is a dedicated and detail-oriented legal professional with experience supporting paralegals and lawyers across various areas of law, including corporate law and trusts. Her background includes hands-on work preparing incorporation and organization documents, annual reports, director and officer changes, and legal correspondence, as well as supporting due diligence processes and managing corporate records. Hadis brings a practical understanding of legal procedures gained through academic training at Vancouver Community College's Paralegal Program and real-world application in a fast-paced legal office environment.

What sets Hadis apart is her strong organizational skills and consistent commitment to accuracy and professionalism in every task she performs. She takes pride in preparing high-quality work products and ensuring that all documentation complies with legal requirements and firm standards. Hadis approaches each file with integrity and care, aiming to anticipate client and team needs before they arise. She is proactive in communication, responsive to deadlines, and is always willing to support her colleagues. Her collaborative mindset and continuous desire to learn enables Hadis to contribute meaningfully to complex legal matters and support the delivery of efficient, client-focused legal services.

Hadis has supported experienced legal teams in corporate compliance, share transactions, and trusts. Her academic and practical training, along with strong attention to detail and client-service focus, have proven valuable in preparing documents, meeting deadlines, and maintaining clear, professional communication within the legal team and with clients.

Hadis actively contributes to the legal community by supporting trust and corporate law transactions, and her continuation of expanding her knowledge through hands-on experience and ongoing education. She is proficient with legal tools such as ALF and remains committed to learning and growing in a collaborative legal environment.
