With over three years of dedicated experience in Wills and Estate Litigation, Katy Newman not only brings a growing knowledge of the field but, more importantly, a deep sense of empathy, discretion, and compassion to every matter she handles. Katy understands that navigating estate disputes often involves complex emotions and deeply personal circumstances. She approaches every file with care, sensitivity, and a genuine commitment to understanding our clients' unique needs and concerns.

While Katy is still early in her Wills and Estates career, she prides herself on an eye for detail, a strong work ethic, and an unwavering willingness to learn and grow. She strives to be someone clients can trust – someone who listens with intent, communicates with clarity, has genuine compassion and thoughtful responses — always taking their worries seriously and never minimizing what matters to them. Katy strives to provide a steady, thoughtful presence every step of the way.

With three years of focused experience in Wills and Estate Litigation, alongside another three years working in foreclosure, Katy has developed a strong foundation in these areas of law.
