Biography

BAR ADMISSION

Ontario, 2015

EDUCATION

- J.D., Queen's University, 2014
- B.A. (Hons.), Queen's University, 2009

Matthew Gray practices in the area of commercial real estate, excelling in real property purchase and sale transactions, financing, structuring and development, with a focus on low-rise, mid-rise and condominium projects. His extensive background includes negotiating commercial real estate transactions including in the context of major portfolio acquisitions or dispositions, new home and condominium sales, and commercial mortgages, catering to a wide range of clients such as land developers and homebuilders. Matthew has built his practice based on providing thoughtful and practical advice to his clients, including through all stages of the development process.

With a background in policy, advocacy and government relations, Matthew brings a well-rounded perspective to his work for clients.

Active in legal and development circles, Matthew is a proud member of the Ontario Bar Association and the Building Industry and Land Development Association. His contributions to legal literature include publications on changes in regulations for the sale of new freehold homes and condominiums in Ontario and commercial leasing considerations for particular industries, demonstrating his commitment to professional development and networking within the legal community.
