Steven Evans, a partner at Miller Thomson focusing on Commercial Litigation, Insurance and Indigenous Law handles diverse cases encompassing a wide range of complex civil disputes. He skillfully navigates legal issues involving breach of contract claims, property disputes, environmental torts and negligence claims, among others. With a background in commerce, Steven brings a business-focused perspective to his legal practice, making him a well-rounded and effective counsel clients can trust.

Steven's numerous publications and speaking engagements demonstrate his deep knowledge and experience in civil litigation and environmental matters. By staying engaged in professional and academic circles, Steven remains at the forefront of legal trends, providing his clients with informed and strategic legal counsel for their cases.

Steven has experience arguing cases in the Supreme Court of British Columbia, Court of Appeal and before the Environmental Appeal Board. Through his membership in organizations such as the Canadian Bar Association and the Law Society of British Columbia, Steven stays abreast of the latest legal developments and maintains a strong professional network. His active involvement in these associations showcases his dedication to excellence in legal practice and commitment to continuous learning, ensuring clients receive top-notch representation tailored to their specific needs.
